Growing Season 2008 was a great growing season for both these varieties. The Sauvignon Blanc was harvested from some of the oldest vines at Windowrie. A high two tier system ensures the fruit is well protected. The Semillon was a very light crop due to the effect of previous drought years.

Winemaking Fruit was harvested at night to ensure delivery to the winery at optimal temperatures. Fruit was crushed with rollers open and first cut made between 575 - 600 litres per tonne. Wines were fermented separately using QA23 and final blending was undertaken in June 2008.

Tasting Notes The Deep River Semillon Sauvignon Blanc has lifted, citrus aromas with herbaceous, green apple complexity. The palate displays melon and citrus with crisp clean acidity that provides a refreshing finish. Enjoy this wine on its own or as a complement to seafood, white meats or creamy pasta.

“Bronze medal. A great balance of these two varieties”
